DiscoSetup12.6Crack 3.60. .Q: How to run both server and client in one project in same time? I am designing a web application that has client and server part. Client will do some stuff and send result to the server. Server has to analyze and return some result. So I need to be able to run server and client parts at the same time. How do I do that?

Is it possible? How should I do that? A: You can use a separate thread for running your client and server. Your client will have a thread and whenever it calls a server method, it will send the call to the server and the server will have another
