I have a SSD drive where Windows stores its boot records, which I'm trying to use on my new Ubuntu 16.04 installation. I tried to just use the existing partition, but I have some issues. Before trying anything, I have to know if I'm on the right track. What filesystem should I use to mount an SSD partition? What does "Device for boot loader installation" mean? I tried both: NTFS Partition type 1 FAT32 A: The device that Windows is booting from has to be FAT32 and at least a little under 2GB. I think that the ext4 filesystem might be too heavy for the SSD. This might not be the case, it all depends on the SSD. If you are planning ba244e880a
