X Force 2013 X32 Exe Infrastructure Map ServerThe deal for France's Carrefour supermarket chain and South Korean conglomerate Lotte Shopping has been approved by the government, the French retail group said Thursday. "We are very satisfied that the central administrative court has approved the acquisition by Carrefour of the 34 percent of Lotte Shopping that is not controlled by the Korean group," Carrefour head Laurent

Castaing said in a statement. But the acquisition is not yet final as the French Competition Authority still has to approve the transfer of the French business to the Lotte Group. The acquisition, worth €3.2 billion ($3.2 billion), has been in the works for two months and has drawn some opposition as it is a non-French company acquiring a French business. Vendee, non-vendee The deal was approved by the French Competition Authority in September but was opposed by the Leto Party, which wants Carrefour to preserve its French character and not sell out to the more internationalized Lotte Group. The group had to split the deal into two, with Carrefour taking on the Lotte Group's French operations while the South Korean group kept its Parisian brands. The approval Thursday of the French group buying into the South Korean retailer is the first major step for the deal, which will allow the Lotte Group to expand its operations in France. Lotte Shopping has already a 38.6 percent stake in Carrefour France while the Korean group had an 8.3 percent stake. With the latest deal, which is a 50/50 deal, Lotte Shopping will make Carref
