Thanks in advance! A: You could use ffmpeg to achieve the task. To do that, you will need to install ffmpeg first. Here is the guide of how to install ffmpeg on windows: As I'm not in windows, so I cannot give you the specific command to install ffmpeg. Instead, you could download this package that also contains ffmpeg : If you have installed ffmpeg before, you may want to remove it first if you want to install winff. You could also install winff with the following command: pip install winff and then copy the ffmpeg bin folder to your path. Q: What steps can I take to prevent water intrusion through plumbing?
