“HyperMotion Technology delivers a more convincing and real-life experience than ever before in football games,” said David Rutter, senior gameplay engineer for FIFA at EA Sports. “The way that the game responds to your player movements and behaviours naturally, as if you’ve always played it, is a real step forward for the series.” “HyperMotion Technology delivers a more realistic and intuitive experience. Players can naturally create more opportunities, make more instinctive decisions and cut through the lines much more effectively,” added Sigurdur Ingi Jonsson, executive producer of FIFA. “With HyperMotion, we’ve challenged our technology to create the most realistic gameplay experience possible – and we’re thrilled to see it evolve and grow so much since launch.” The FIFA World Cup winner Gianluigi Buffon, a Juventus and Italy legend, brings the experience of a pro footballer to FIFA 22 with the addition of “AI Vision.” AI Vision adapts to the opponent, anticipating player’s movements and when the players are most vulnerable. Additional highlights and improvements in FIFA 22 include: Real-world physics engine powered by a new ball physics system New AI system with enhanced autonomous movements, flexible run and tackle animations and a new pass system that responds to player skill levels in addition to a new “playmaker” AI that assists in the distribution of the ball One-touch free kicks and corner kicks, enhanced by the new free kick system that allows for both flanks and in front of the 18-yard box to be used New 4-4-2 Diamond Playmaker Style tactical formation that includes a playmaker Face of the Player: Every playable and genuine footballer in the game features a comprehensive Face of the Player that reflects their real-world personality. FIFA 22 is available on Xbox One and Xbox One X, PlayStation 4 and PlayStation 4 Pro, and PC.
